1. Proper alignment

Website section must be all aligned properly to the left, and to the right. Here's just an example with the how it works section which looks very bad. It's like it's from a different website. We want his website to look professional, and this kinds of mistakes are too sloppy.

Also, check the mobile version, the Kindness for causes section. It's not even fully visible, it's not aligned to nothing. Please revise all these spacing and alignments across the website. I am sorry to say this, but these are basic things that we feel we shouldn't even ask. It's basic design, and I bet we are not your first website. That's why we feel you're not treating this seriously, but more rushing it.

2. Copy edits

2.1 Kindness for causes replacement:

Header: We're just getting started

Body text: Dogegifty is in its early days, and we're building fast. More features and more ways to share are coming soon. Stay tuned.

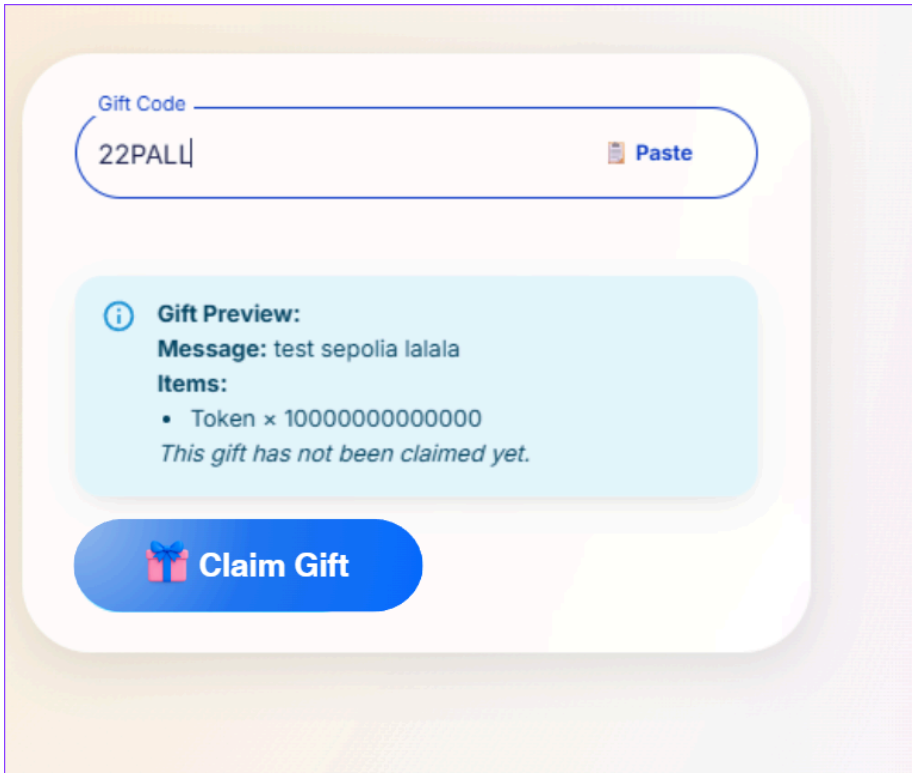

CTA button:

Follow our journey on Twitter (link: https://x.com/dogegftoken)

2.2. Replace: "Seal the Gift We'll create a unique secret code for you. Share this code with someone privately—they'll need it to claim the gift." with "Wrap the gift with a secret code. We'll lock your gift with a secret code. To claim it, the person who receives the gift must use the code to unlock it."

3. Others

3.1 Footer icons: replace the phone icon for support with the mail icon
3.2 When clicked/tapped on support, open the default email app and prefill the recipient with this address: dogegf@dogegf.com
3.3 the claim/create gift buttons on homepage show connect wallet and require to connect with the wallet before you can create/claim. On the other hand, the same buttons in the header don't force you to connect. We want consistency, so we want the buttons on the homepage to allow you to open the create/claim pages, and only before you send/claim to redirect you to connect the wallet first.
3.4 Redo the design of the header following the attached design and change the background colors/gradients as in the attachments for the landing page and how it works section.
3.5 Replace the dogegifty dog illustration with the new one
3.6 The add token button: it's too wide. Make it normal, similar in size with the connect wallet button. Align it to the right, under the box with "Enter amount"
3.7 The Claim Gift button should look like this. (Icon in the attachments)
Also for this particular case i created a gift pack with 0.0001 eth in it and here it says 1000000… instead of the actual value, and the token name doesn't work.

The second pop-up should be removed.
"View on Etherscan" should have another font color.

After a gift is claimed successfully the Claim Gift button should disappear.

3.8 When I'm claiming I'm still getting WETH instead of ETH.
